ALWAYS THE LAST WORD—First!

REMEMBER THESE CATALOGS? If you have been an iris fan for several seasons you will remember every one of them. The chances are right good that you will have them all tucked away as so many prized keepsakes. And even though you may have received only the last one or two, you must know the storehouse of beauty, accurate descriptions, and meaty iris lore that is packed within their pages.

COLOR . . . lots of it, made from kodachromes of the actual flowers.

NEW INTRODUCTIONS . . . from sources far and near, and especially the famous seedlings of Dr. R. E. Kleinsorge.

FEATURES . . . an array of collection offers in every issue . . . the "Unofficial Iris Symposium" of most popular iris, . . . the chatty and instructive booklet "Let's Talk About Iris" . . . knowledge and pointers gleaned from iris travels that would do credit to a Marco Polo or a Gulliver, and passed on to you via these printed pages.

Cooley's catalogs, passing in review, comprise a cavalcade of what has taken place in iris advancement for a decade and now 1942 . . .

That question mark . . . and those empty pages of white paper. What will they be like? Will the series continue? For the answer—your answer—turn page.

This Iris is "TOBACCO ROAD"

It is a glowing golden brown self, just the color of a tobacco leaf, and one of the most beautiful and distinct things that we have ever seen. Produced by Dr. Kleinsorge, it will be introduced this year, along with ORMACO, the first Ormohr seedling, and two other exceedingly fine varieties from his garden. One of them is coppery plum, the other a pinkish affair with yellow standards.

Would you like to see them in color?

Of course you would! And we would like to show them to you just that way. What's more, we can do it, for we planned on it last spring when they were in bloom and had the necessary work done then. Last fall, with rising prices evident, we ordered the tons of glossy enameled paper that goes into our catalogs....and now it is stacked in the warehouse, ready to start rolling on the presses.

But this is a moving, changing world. Costs of everything have boomed sky high, so high in fact that before we can go ahead with our usual plans we must have assurance that those on our mailing list actually want the catalog, and that there is a sufficient number sincerely interested to justify the additional expense. Color in a catalog means ~~thousands and thousands of copies....~~the unit cost of a limited few would be prohibitive. Color means five trips through the presses instead of just one!

Now our catalogs have always been free. The 1942 issue will likewise be free, whether it is a fit companion to those which have gone before or a less pretentious and simpler edition in plain black and white. And right here is where we need your help, and where we give you something in return for your cooperation.....This is the situation: we have 30,000 of you on our mailing list; many thousands of you are customers, but a vast number must of necessity be dropped from the list. Obviously we have no way of knowing who is no longer interested, and still we want to keep in contact with all of you who are iris minded. If you really want another iris catalog that you will be proud to own, just as colorful and richly gotten up as in prior years, with its pictures, collections, newest novelties, and latest symposium of 100 best iris, would you not be willing to attach a dollar to the enclosed coupon and mail it to us with the understanding that it entitles you to a full dollar's worth of iris selected from the 1942 catalog?....Not to pay for the catalog, mind you, but rather to assure us that your copy is sincerely desired and to enable us to clear all names from our list where interest is only slight.

If you have never ordered before, or if it has been several seasons since you have done so, your dollar will prove to you that finer rhizomes cannot be procured anywhere. And if you are a recent customer, or one of long standing, you are already aware of the value you will receive.....one hundred cents worth of iris of your own choosing, and the catalog just as you wish most to have it and as you have had it in the past.

We'll have to know your decision very shortly. Won't you take the necessary few seconds right now?

Cordially yours,

COOLEY'S GARDENS.

PRE-SEASON Iris Collections for Orders Placed Before March 10th

You can get the jump on the season by placing your order at this time. No second choices, no substitutions, with delivery at the very outset of the shipping season, in June. Many of these varieties will not appear in collections this summer and a few will not even be in the catalog. By ordering now, you are certain of getting exactly what you want, the cream of the crop, and the plants will have all summer to grow for you.

And here is something else . . . all who order from this list will definitely receive the 1942 catalog. Please understand, however, that these offers are not for early spring delivery. They are being made so that a certain volume of orders can be shipped out ahead of the rush season, and that means very shortly after they have finished flowering. You gain weeks of growth in your own garden. Later delivery will be made if requested. MARCH 10th IS THE LAST DAY . . . ORDER AT ONCE.
